DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The garden apartment is defined by a series of projecting entranceways alternately spaced between three and four bay facades. The foundation and building walls are of common bond brick. The roof is pitched; it extends above the projecting entranceways overhanging slightly. A flight of four steps with metal railings on each side lead up to a metal staircase with a second floor landing. The doors to the dwelling units are recessed into the entranceway along the sides. First floor windows are protected with a decorative metal grill. The windows are flat, encased in metal with a long brick sill. Large metal ventilator shafts punctuate the building walls near the the projecting entrances.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

One of the newer public housing projects in Upton, the structure makes some attempts to achieve compatibility to older structures. The height of three stories and the white steps, as well as the continuous row with a rythm of projections reflects some aspects of traditional Baltimorean architecture.
